Case Studies

HOSPITAL

Problem: Class action suit.

Solution: An L&F senior employee was appointed as a Special Master. In addition to conducting evidentiary hearings, he supervised E-Discovery and issued E-Discovery requests and subpoenas. L&F used cutting edge analysis to review the material. After numerous hearings and a deep investigation, including the uncovering of numerous deleted documents and emails, the L&F employee issued a detailed recommendation concerning compliance that was adopted by the Court.

TECHNOLOGY COMPANY

Problem: Patent infringement.

Solution: Several entrepreneurs that created technology claimed their former company took credit for their inventions. Our team, representing these entrepreneurs, conducted in-person interviews, and created a multi-step protocol to sift through servers and the cloud to find evidence. As a direct result of our findings, the client was able to prove that the company was withholding about 14,000 documents from the court proceedings. These documents contained undeniable proof that the idea in question was property of our client.

E-COMMERCE COMPANY

Problem: Partnership dispute.

Solution: A Law & Forensics' team member served as a court appointed Special Master in a multi-billion dollar case involving disputes over profit-sharing and intellectual property. The team member held evidentiary hearings, permitted discovery deemed reasonable and necessary, supervised e-discovery, issued e-discovery requests and subpoenas on issues related to compliance, and delivered a detailed recommendation to the Court concerning compliance. Our team member assisted the parties in reaching a settlement.
